

North Texas Food Bank saves more than $200K

The client

The North Texas Food Bank (NTFB) is a nonprofit serving the hungry across 13 counties in North Texas, through initiatives including The Community Kitchen and Food 4 Kids.

The challenge

To sustain and expand its programs, NTFB needed to reduce operational costs — particularly in food services and packaging — without compromising quality or availability, uncovering hidden savings that could be redirected toward feeding more people in need.

The solution

ERA conducted a comprehensive review of NTFB's food and packaging spend. For food services, category specialists built a detailed "market basket" RFP covering meat and seafood, dry groceries, frozen goods, produce, and refrigerated dairy — structured for competitive bidding and tying supplier pricing to raw-material costs to protect NTFB from price swings. In packaging, a thorough RFP drove improved pricing, better inventory management, and enhanced service, with suppliers evaluated on service and operational fit, not cost alone.

The result

ERA helped NTFB achieve over $200,000 in annual savings — more than $15,000 per hour in food and $13,000 per hour in packaging in identified hidden savings — enabling NTFB to reinvest in its mission of delivering more meals across pantries, shelters, senior centers, and after-school programs.
