

Brand Playbook

Designed to give you essential insights, guidelines, actions, and support as we transform our brand

Version 3.0

© ERA Group. All Rights Reserved

Contents

INSIGHT

Introduction

4

Our name	5
Branding 101	6
What's Changed - And What Hasn't	7

Creative approach

8

Our strapline	9
Our brand journey	10
Our creative inspiration	11
What sets us apart	12

Who we are

13

Brand proposition	14
Boilerplate	15
Driving enterprise value	16
Audience insight	17-21

Tone of voice dimensions

22

Tone of voice examples	23-24
Tone of voice examples 2	25

IDENTITY

Design principles

27

The sunrise	28
Iconography	29
Logo & logotype	30
Clear space and minimum size	31

Favicon

32

Value through insight lockup	33
Logo & logotype - Athena	34
Sustainability dimension	35
Logo application	36

Colour palette

37

Gradients	38
Concepts	39-40
Brand typefaces	41
Headline style	42
Typographic application	43

Headline rule

44

Photography style	45
Photography style - Case Studies	46
Photography style - Insights	47
Photography style - Abstract	48

Insight.

People-led. Insight-powered.

“ Our brand is built on people – backed by insight and technology.

We show up with a human approach: we listen, we act, and we stay close to implementation.

What’s changing is the speed and clarity of what we deliver. Through Athena, we’re enabling leaders to make informed decisions with confidence - faster.

Our ambition to become the world’s leading professional services consultancy is well underway. ”

John Mockler
Global Head of Marketing

This document is for you, our consultants. It is designed to provide an understanding of the new ERA Group brand, and how you can leverage it to enhance your business.

Our name

Our transformation goes beyond the look and feel of our brand - the way we say our name has evolved too.

ERA is now commonly pronounced “era” (/ear-ah/). Across our network, pronunciation will always vary by country, language and dialect - and that’s expected.

In writing, “ERA” remains in capital letters. In our logo, it remains in lowercase; it’s the spoken pronunciation that has shifted. After introducing our primary name (ERA Group), we now recommend always referring to ‘ERA Group’.

Our existing legal entities remain the same.

As we continue to build consistency globally, it’s important to note there is one logo, and it must be used as documented in this playbook.

Branding 101

Our brand is more than a business card...

Our brand is informed by our business strategy. It serves as a holistic ecosystem intentionally designed to appeal to our target audience to reinforce trust, build connection, and stand out from the competition. It defines who we are in the marketplace and why we matter – and you play an important part in that.

Our company mission, vision, and values are important elements of our identity, and are the basis for our design choices and tone of voice. This playbook explains our creative vision and gives you guidance on how to represent our brand with confidence.

Ready to learn more?

What's Changed - And What Hasn't

The way leaders manage cost, risk and growth has changed - and expectations have changed with it. Traditional “expense reduction” language no longer reflects the value we deliver, or how we deliver it.

ERA Group is people-led. Our network earns trust through relationships, judgement and implementation - staying close to what's real, not just what looks good on paper.

ERA Group is insight-powered. Technology like Athena helps us capture, organize and activate insight at speed - connecting data, benchmarks and expertise so opportunities surface faster and decisions are clearer.

That's why our narrative centres on delivering Value Through Insight™: combining human expertise with insight-led tools to move from opportunity to action - and action to measurable impact.

Creative approach

BrandOpus, an award-winning global branding agency specializing in brand identity, strategy, and design, created our new identity. The creative team at BrandOpus utilized insight from ERA's leadership team, marketing group, client research, and a select network of stakeholders to inform their strategy.

The result? BrandOpus developed a new brand identity that pays homage to our legacy while conveying a strong sense of future-forward optimism as we continuously illuminate new opportunities for business health and growth – both for our clients and our business.

Creative insights

- Our simplified name “ERA Group” enables us to go beyond “expense reduction” - opening the door for new opportunities.
- Our new logo depicts an abstract sun graphic (aka. the sunrise) that represents the illumination of new opportunities we bring forward.
- The “dot” in the “r” of “era” and the addition of “group” to our name reinforce our unity around the world and the value we bring to our clients as a vital extension to their team(s).

Our strapline

What is a strapline? Why is it so important?

A company's strapline is a long-term property and is legally registered as a company asset, also known as its trademark.

A strapline sums up the essence of our brand. It does more than describe what our service does; it encapsulates what we stand for, our values and personality.

value through insight™

It is short enough to be remembered and memorable enough to stand the test of time – always a sign of successful thinking.

It positions us in the context of our competitors and in the mind of the client – straplines have appeal because they say something valuable, aspirational and inspirational to the public.

Our strapline reflects this in three simple words and gives potential clients a real understanding of how we can benefit them.

Your unique insights and experience will lead to a more competitive advantage, and that, after all, is the bottom line.

We've also registered the strapline, adding a 'TM' to the logo to add value to the service.

This elevates it from being a strapline into a unique new process.

ERA Group consultants see the world differently. You can look at a business and see opportunities where others see none.

You can look into processes and suggest more efficient solutions. Unlike other people, you have a unique insight that can add real value to a brand.

Our brand journey.

All brands have a story. This is ours.

1992 - 2007

The Beginning

In 1992, Fred Marfleet purchased the rights to the ERA brand & methodology. In 1996, our business became a cost reduction franchise focusing on select cost categories and a limited amount of expertise.

2008 - 2023

From Cash to Insight

In 2008, we refreshed our look using the tagline, "Find Extra Profit." In 2019, we evolved our tagline to "Value Through Insight" to reinforce the importance of the insight & expertise delivered by our network.

2024 - present

Illuminating Opportunity

As we continuously deliver value beyond savings to our clients, rebranding as "ERA Group" shines light on new opportunities to champion business health and growth, illuminating opportunities like never before.

Our creative inspiration: A new dawn

Creative idea

“Illuminating Opportunities”

Brand purpose

“We generate advantage by revealing hidden value.”

The initial work with our branding agency was all about discovery. Something to spark the creative brand idea. The narrative continued to center around our unique value proposition; that we unearth what others can't. That we illuminate opportunities and see opportunities where our clients never thought possible. This idea of illumination led us to the creative inspiration of 'A New Dawn'.

If you ever need to explain how we got to our sunrise, we have provided the below narrative...

By revealing new opportunities, we help our clients see their business in a new light, heralding the start of a new dawn for their business objectives and ambitions.

In Greco-Roman mythology, the dawn was triumphantly heralded by the arrival of Aurora, riding across the sky in her golden chariot, illuminating each day a new with optimism.

Aurora and her chariot signify what we bring to our clients - a sense of newness, opportunity and illumination moving forward with renewed confidence and vigour.

This led to our brand idea: 'Illuminating Opportunities' with a purpose of 'generating advantage by revealing hidden value'.

What sets us apart

We aren't PWC, Deloitte, BCG or KPMG – and that's a good thing. We're more than a consultancy.

We're a global team of thinkers and doers.

It means we'll find what others don't.

← this means we look where others won't.

It means we understand our client's business in ways others can't.

← this means we have unrivalled expertise.

It means we action insight others won't.

← this means we hold the hand of our client, and implement.

We are unique, this is our Unique Selling Proposition (USP).

Who we are

Our position in the marketplace.

Mission

Our purpose (today).

We optimize costs and illuminate opportunities, revealing hidden value to help businesses unlock their full potential.

Vision

Who we strive to be.

To enable today's business leaders to achieve transformative change through cost optimization and expert-led consultancy.

Values

What's important to us.

Value-driven
Authentic
Dynamic

ERA Group delivers Value Through Insight™ - helping business leaders turn cost-optimization from a one-off exercise into an always-on capability, uncovering hidden value, protecting margin, and funding growth through expert-led intelligence and technology-enabled visibility.

Brand Proposition

Brand Proposition

ERA Group delivers Value Through Insight™

This is the top-level promise. It explains the value ERA creates for clients.

Platform Brand

Athena – our unified platform for end-to-end delivery

This is the enabling, unified platform that powers the end-to-end journey - from prospecting through to implementation and ongoing delivery.

Strategic Capability / Value Layer

Cost Intelligence

This is the intelligence Athena helps generate. It is not a separate product from Athena; it is the strategic outcome Athena enables.

Platform Capability / Module

Spend Analysis (formerly SpendVue)

This is a specific capability within Athena. In other words, Spend Analysis is one of the practical tools or applications inside the Athena environment.

Commercial Engagement / Diagnostic Step

Opportunity Assessment

This is a client-facing assessment, methodology, or stage in the journey - not a platform brand and not a module. It is how we identify value before or alongside delivery.

Boilerplate

Setting a standard when telling our story.

A boilerplate is a short, approved “About ERA Group” description you can reuse whenever you need to introduce ERA - in emails, proposals, presentations, event bios, LinkedIn posts, case studies, or partner communications. It keeps our story consistent across markets, saves you time, and ensures we describe ERA in a clear, confident way that aligns with our current narrative.

About ERA Group (Full length)

ERA Group partners with business leaders to tackle their most important challenges and illuminate their greatest opportunities – delivering Value Through Insight™.

For more than 30 years, we’ve helped organizations improve performance through cost optimization, combining deep category expertise with data, analytics and benchmarking.

Today, ERA is further amplified by technology. Through Athena™, we’re strengthening how insight is captured, analyzed and actioned - helping clients move faster from opportunity identification to implementation and measurable impact.

With specialists across major cost areas and industries worldwide, ERA Group helps modern leadership teams make confident decisions, protect margins and fund growth.

About ERA Group (Medium length)

ERA Group helps business leaders protect margins and unlock growth – people-led, insight powered. We combine specialist expertise with data, analytics and benchmarking to identify opportunities, validate the case for change, and implement solutions.

With technology such as Athena strengthening how insight is captured, analysed and actioned, ERA Group helps leaders move faster from opportunity to measurable impact.

About ERA Group (Short length)

ERA Group is a people-first network, powered by insight - combining specialist expertise with data, analytics and technology to help organizations identify opportunities, implement improvements, and deliver measurable impact.

Driving enterprise value

What keeps our clients coming back.

While cost optimization is at the heart of what we do, the value we deliver to our clients extends beyond the savings we find.

We now operate in more than 60 COUNTRIES with more than 1000 PEOPLE

Actionable Insights

We illuminate opportunities with expertise in all expense areas and benchmark data & insights from 40,000+ projects and counting.

A Valuable Resource

With a network of 1,000+ specialists worldwide, we can help teams fill in any gaps, saving them time and helping leaders achieve goals faster.

Best Practice Advice

From process improvements to supplier negotiation tips and more, our practical knowledge can go far, helping our clients stay a step ahead.

Partners to Depend On

We strive to build lasting relationships with our clients, often helping them find solutions to some of their toughest challenges or by going the extra mile.

Audience insight

Addressing the needs of the modern C-suite

For today's business leaders, cost is no longer a one-off programme — it's a permanent agenda item. But the goal has shifted: leaders want spend intelligence and actionable insights that strengthen resilience and performance while creating headroom to invest in growth, technology and talent.

Insights:

- In BCG's annual survey of 570+ C-suite executives, one-third listed cost as their most critical priority - and 86% said they plan to invest in AI and advanced analytics to support cost reduction efforts.
- Gartner research (survey of 200+ CFOs) found 56% rank achieving enterprise-wide cost optimisation targets among their top five priorities heading into 2026.

Sources: BCG (2025), Cost Efficiencies Remain an Executive Priority; Gartner (Dec 2025), Top Priorities for CFOs in 2026 Include Cost Optimization.

Audience insight.

Understand how key roles within the C-suite are evolving and transforming the way we do business.

CEO

CFO

CPO

Delivering value to CEOs

The Chief Executive Officer is the top decision-maker responsible for defining their company's overall strategic direction – and they must do so with agility and conviction, no matter what is going on in the world.

Key Drivers:

- Company performance
- Strategic insights
- Future innovation
- Organizational alignment
- Agility

Emerging Challenges:

- Growing societal expectations
- Increasing number of stakeholders to appease
- Navigating unprecedented challenges

ERA Value Drivers:

- Turning data into opportunity
- Delivering value beyond savings
- Ability to act quickly & independently
- Strategic insight
- Valuable extension to team

Delivering value to CFOs

Today's CFOs champion more than tactical accounting – they've taken on a more strategic role, utilizing advancements in tech to increase organizational efficiencies and improve collaboration across business units.

Key Drivers:

- Preservation
- Value creation
- Operational performance

Changing Dynamics:

- Role has become more complex
- Must be more strategic
- Need to utilize data and insights effectively

ERA Value Drivers:

- Turning data into opportunity
- Savings value and beyond
- Strategic insight
- Valuable extension to team

Delivering value to CPOs

As we engage with more large enterprise organizations, the Chief Procurement Officer is emerging as a top decision-maker for our services. When we approach the CPO directly, we put the ball in their court, enabling them to utilize ERA as an extension to their team. We increase their ability to get tactical and successfully deliver on aggressive goals.

Key Drivers:

- Achieving cost-cutting initiatives
- Optimizing performance
- Delivering value

New Demands:

- Acceleration of digitized work
- Must adapt and act quickly
- Involved in more strategic initiatives

ERA Value Drivers:

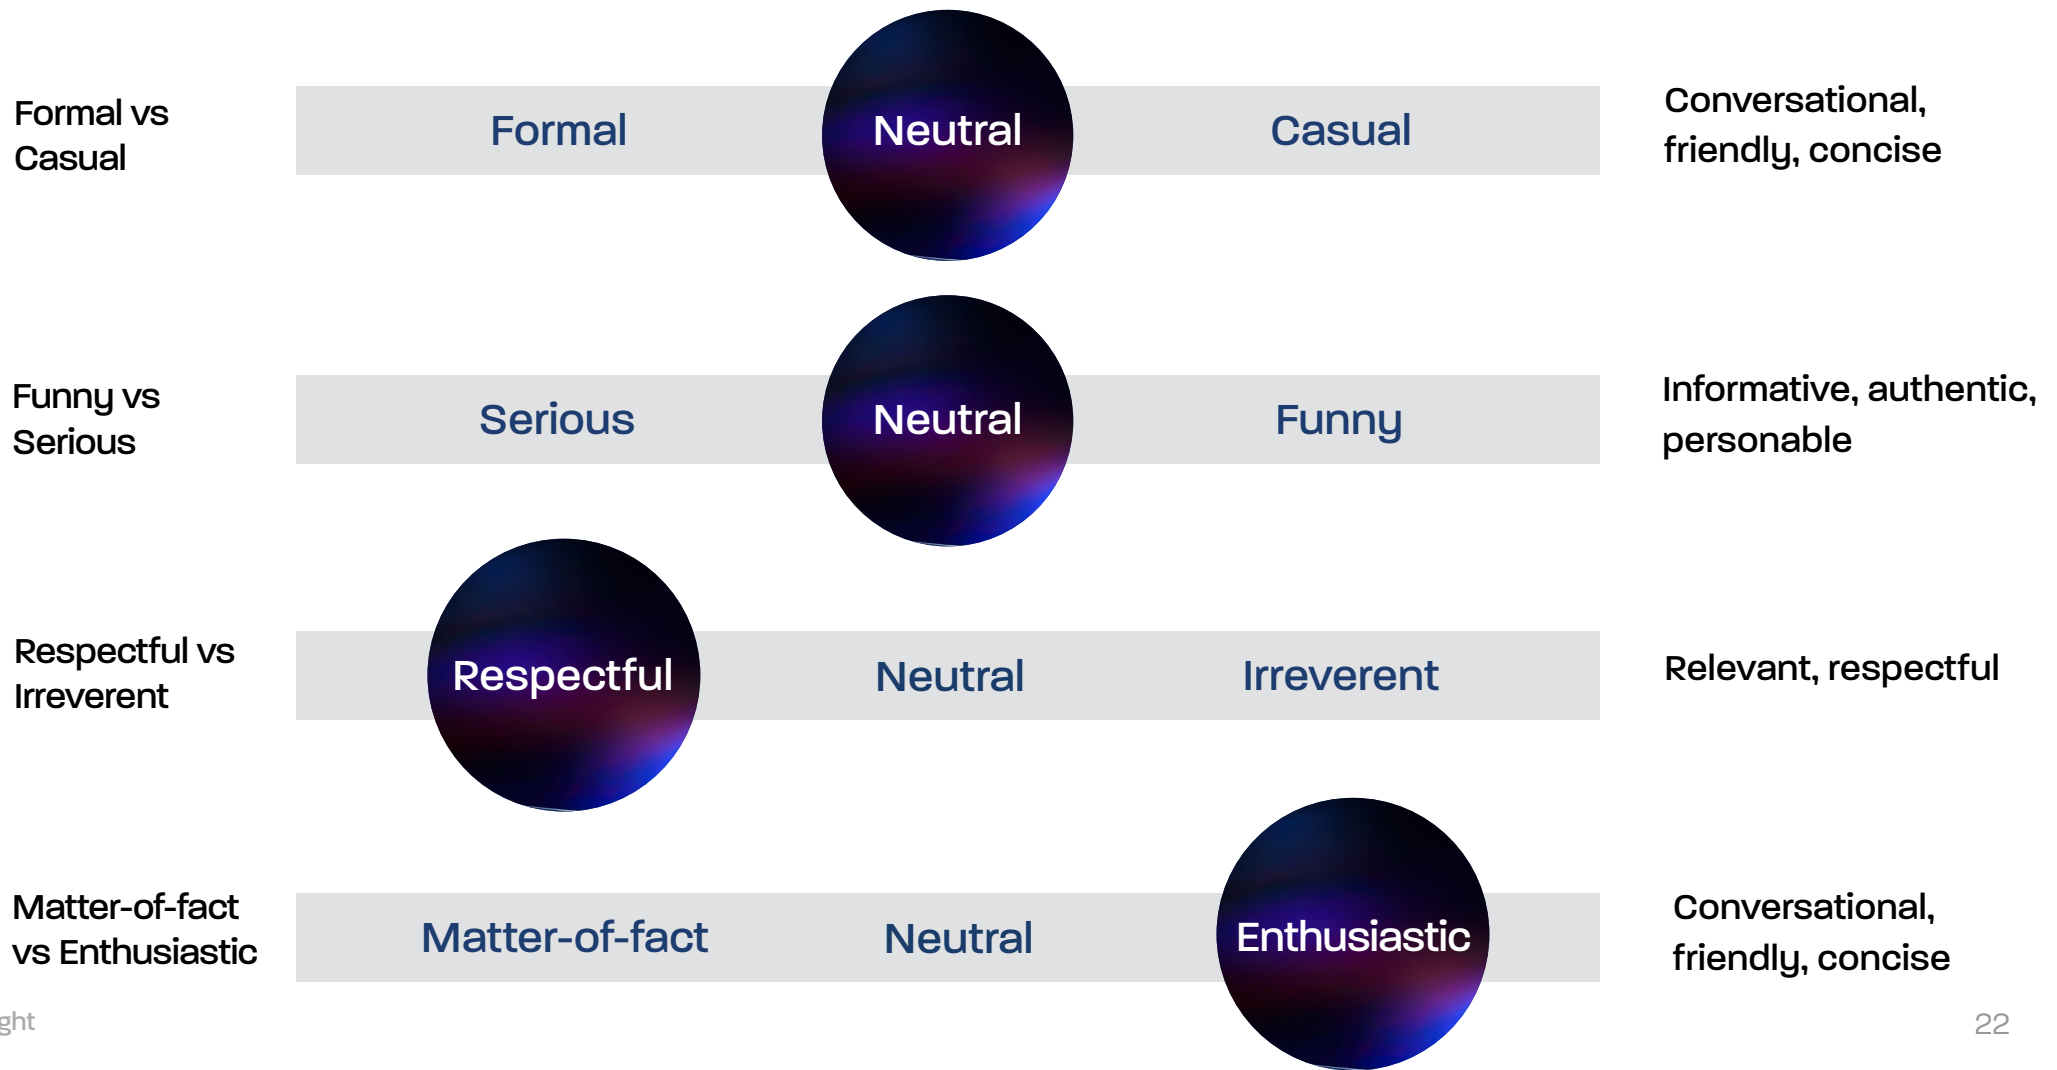

- Focus on delivering solutions
- Successful implementation is crucial
- Valuable extension to team

Tone of voice dimensions

We're easy to do business with, so our messaging should be concise and not overdone. Our communications should always be crafted with intent.

Our brand's tone of voice incorporates four dimensions to help guide us in the development of copy and content.

Tone of voice and how it applies to you

We write how we speak; there are examples below. By that we mean we're not overly formal and we write for our readers with an 'active voice', meaning we're providing a narrative – telling a story.

Write how we speak

We may be a business, but for us, building business relationships is personal. While it's important we show off our new brand, we shouldn't start every piece of writing with 'At ERA Group'. Instead, be human. Use inclusive words such as we, us, you and your, and contractions like we're and let's. That means scrapping formal words and jargon from your ERA Group vocab and finding more familiar and accessible ways to say them.

This means:
Always being approachable...
but not sounding too familiar.

Write with authority

We're serious about our service and we want it to show in our words. Show that we know what we're talking about and give potential and existing clients confidence by explaining complex matters simply. Be specific. Don't overload our writing with adjectives and literary devices like humor, but consider some occasionally (like rhyme and repetition) as a means to be memorable in an industry known for sounding overly corporate.

This means:
Being knowledgeable...
but not academic.

Write with purpose

Our writing should be as focused as we are, so grab the reader's attention from the get-go. Ask questions in headlines to get our audience thinking and inject energy into our writing with the active voice ('the cat chased the mouse', not 'the mouse was chased by the cat'), long and short sentences (rather than just one or the other) and bullet points. Our audience are busy business people so, focus on the results we can offer them and make what we say easily digestible.

This means:
Getting to the point quickly...
and not being over the top.

Tone of voice example 1

Do not

If you'd like to find out more, it starts with a conversation, so get in touch and we can discuss your needs and priorities to create a plan of action for your business.

Analysis

From the current business situation in the selected cost categories

A risk-free way to improve your bottom-line

Our Proven Methodology

Our methodology in four steps:

Implementation

Efficient implementation of the chosen option for your company

If we do not find savings, there is no fee for our services.

Do

Could you be doing business even better? Finding out starts with a conversation with ERA Group about your needs and priorities.

We get to know your business and create a plan tailored to your objectives

Boost your bottom line. The risk-free way.

Our process

Illuminating opportunities in four simple steps

We carry out your plan

with expertise and without delay

If we don't find any savings, you won't be charged.

Tone of voice example 2

Do not

Industry Solutions from Expense Reduction Analysts

At Expense Reduction Analysts, our global network consists of industry specialists, all of whom have gained a wealth of knowledge and insight from extensive and successful careers in their fields of expertise. Anticipating your needs, our team can deliver local knowledge to your region, working with your business to provide optimized performance, reduced costs and improved financial flexibility.

For nearly 30 years, Expense Reduction Analysts (ERA) have helped thousands of clients find extra cash flow and improve operational efficiency in more than 40 expense categories.

Explore your industry below in more detail and discover precisely how Expense Reduction Analysts can help you.

ERA was set an agenda by Wolferstans to help the firm harness the benefits of pandemic-induced 'forced change' in order to contribute to long term process improvement and growth.

Do

Answering your business problems

ERA Group's global network of industry specialists – with their years of experience – means we're always in the right place at the right time to help your business uncover hidden opportunities for financial growth, improve financial flexibility and overall, do better business.

For nearly 30 years, our consultants – with their real-time data and practical expert knowledge – have helped thousands of businesses find extra cash flow and improve their ways of working in over 40 expense categories.

Find your industry below and see exactly how we can help you.

Wolferstans asked us to help them harness the 'forced change' brought on by the pandemic so that they could grow by improving their business processes.

Identity.

Design principles

Four guidelines for us to consider when creating new material for our brand.

From collateral to brochures, whitepapers, and more – anything we create that represents our brand should have a cohesive look and feel. Our design principles serve as important reminders for us as we combine copy and visuals for new material.

As we transition our branding, your local marketing team will do the majority of heavy-lifting when it comes to creating new branded materials during key phases of our rollout.

Any branded material that is not developed by ERA's Marketing Group will be subject to a brand review to ensure it aligns with our design principles and brand guidelines.

1

Illuminate Opportunity

We bring value forward, front and center.

2

Strive for Simplicity

We're easy to do business with, so our messaging should be concise and not overdone.

3

Be Bold & Purposeful

All of our communication should be iconic and crafted with intent.

4

People Matter

We believe in a human-to-human connection, so it's important we stay true to the needs of our audience.

The sunrise

The abstract sun graphic that integrates with our identity can be used in various expressive crops to add pace and dynamism across our digital and printed touchpoints. Please refer to the examples opposite and through for correct usage regarding size, crop and interaction with photography.

There's three styles of usage

1. Supercrop: Graphic must be positioned running off of the page.
2. Photographic interaction: Full sunrise can be shown when interacting with photography.
3. Highlighting content: Graphic can be used to highlight facts, figures etc.

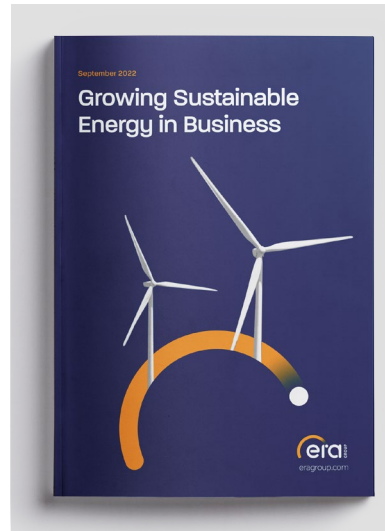

The sunrise

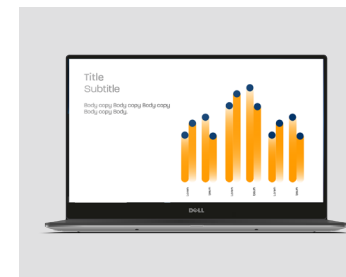

Photographic interaction example 2

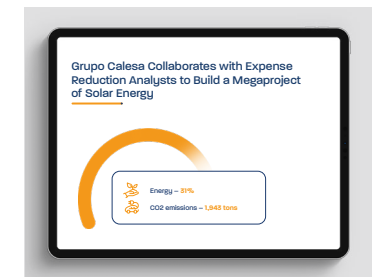

Photographic interaction example 1

Iconography example 1

Highlighting content example

Iconography

Iconography has been designed to link graphically to our abstract sun for brand recognition and consistency. See examples of this here.

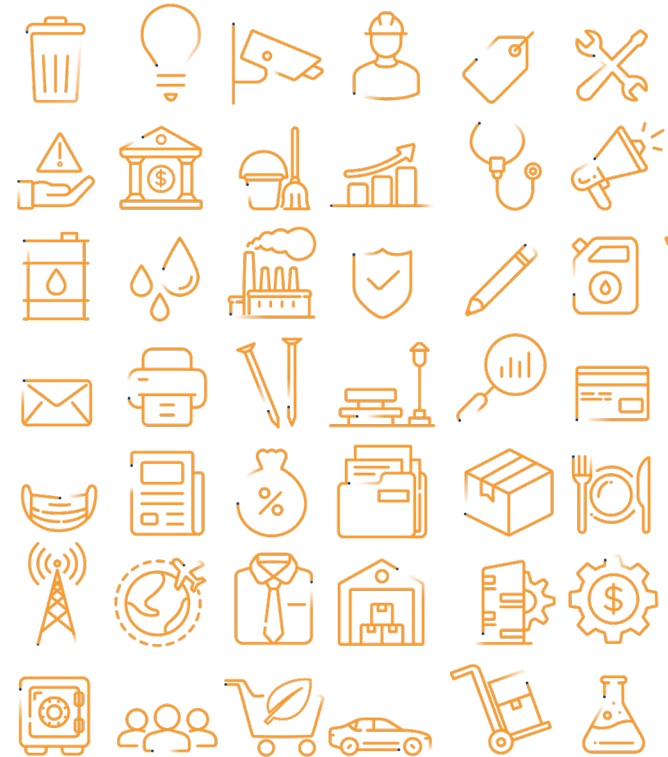

Iconography is a visual language for the depiction of attributes, functionality, or information. Occasionally, we may utilize icons in our marketing materials (infographics, whitepapers, flyers, presentations etc.) to help reinforce a key point in our messaging.

While the use of iconography can add value to our messaging, it should not be overdone.

Iconography examples

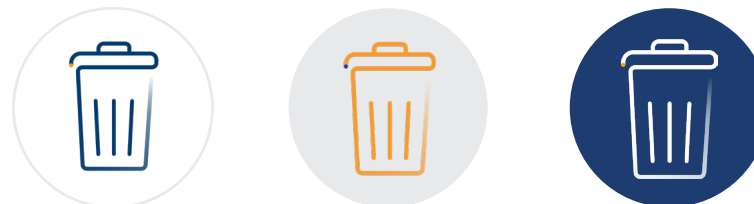

Icon examples

Sector examples

Colour variations

Logo & logotype

Our identity had been designed to reflect our updated strategy, 'illuminating opportunities'. It depicts an abstract sun graphic that integrates with the typography. We call it 'the sunrise'.

Our logo can be used on any of our colorways with high contrast, but primary color backgrounds are preferred over secondary color backgrounds.

Our single colour identity should only be used when one colour print is available.

Primary identity on white

Single colour identity on white

Secondary identity on blue

Single colour identity on black

Clear space and minimum size

Stick to these principles to make sure our logo looks consistent and has enough space to breathe wherever it is used.

Our logo should adhere to clear space guidance and should not overlap any secondary graphic elements.

Clear space

Use the dot of the 'r' in the wordmark to keep a clear area around it.

No other elements should enter this space.

Minimum size

30mm wide in print or 100 pixels on screen.

Examples not to scale

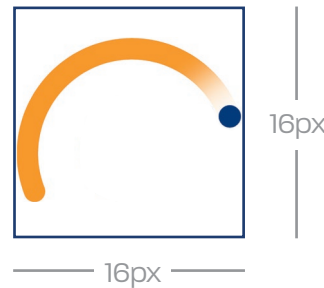

Favicon

Our favicon is a small, 16x16 pixel icon used on web browsers to represent a website or a web page. Short for “favorite icon.” Favicons are commonly displayed on tabs at the top of a web browser.

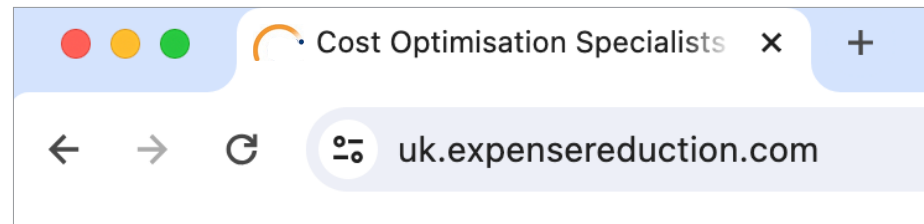

Favicons are also found on your browser’s bookmark bar, history and in search results, alongside the page url. It is also used as our LinkedIn icon.

Our favicon is our sunrise including the dot. This is recognisable and fits within the square restraints well. If we were to use our entire logo as the favicon, it would be illegible.

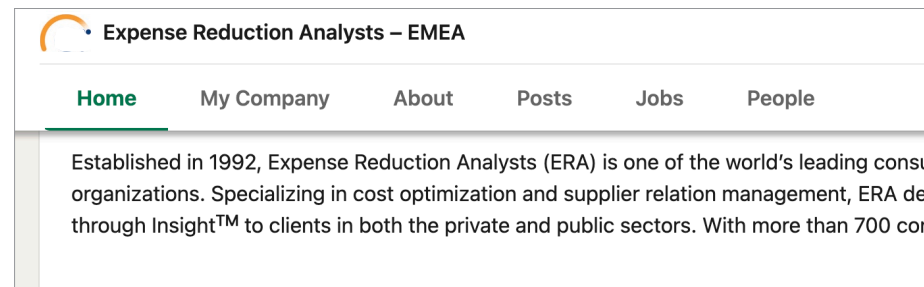

See examples to the right.

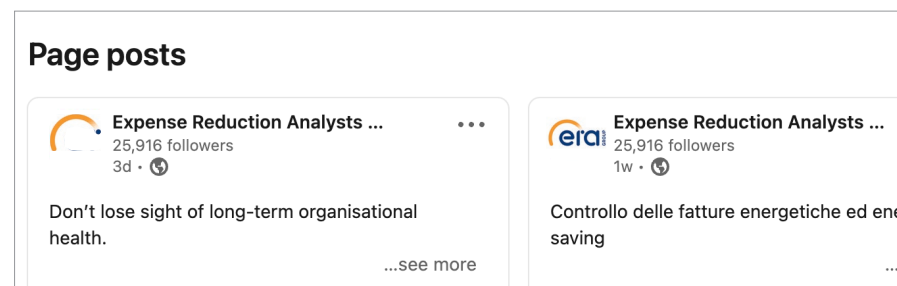

Example of how our favicon fits within the 16x16 pixel box.

Web browser example

Linkedin example

Example of how the logo would be illegible if used compared to the sunrise.

Value through insight lockup

The lockup for our tagline 'value through insight' has been provided within our asset suite to ensure consistency across all touchpoints.

It's made from Paralucent light with the words 'value' and 'insight' emphasized in Paralucent medium and 'insight' being highlighted once more with an underline.

We have two orientations; portrait and landscape which are available in blue, white and black text.

When it comes to printing onto merchandise, the black version of the lockup should be used instead of the blue.

Horizontal in blue text

value through insight™

Horizontal in black text

value through insight™

Vertical in blue text

value
through insight™

Vertical in black text

value
through insight™

Horizontal in white text

value through insight™

Vertical in white text

value
through insight™

Logo & logotype - Athena

This design symbolises the 'A' in Athena and incorporates the dot from our ERA logo, keeping continuity throughout the brand.

The gradient colours are associated with innovation and forward-thinking, representing ERA Group as a whole and the athena platform.

Our single colour identity should only be used when one colour print is available.

Primary identity on white

Single colour identity on white

Single colour identity on black

Sustainability dimension

When creating sustainable flyers, posters, case studies, etc. All instances that Daybreak Blue would usually be used change to Sustainability Green. All of the same rules and colour ways apply.

Sustainability Green compliments Sunrise Yellow in the same way as Daybreak Blue, but lends itself better towards the sustainability sector.

Sustainability Green must only be used when creating materials specifically related to sustainability initiatives or communications.

Sustainability logo

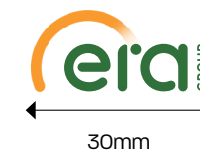

- Usage for website, case studies, posters, etc.
- Use Sustainability Green for 'ERA Group'
- Keep Sunset Yellow for the sunrise
- Same rules apply for the spacing and size of the logo

Minimum size

30 mm wide in print, or 100 pixels on screen.

Examples not to scale.

Sustainability colours

Sunrise Yellow

PMS 137c CO M47 Y93 K0
R255 G156 B0 # FF9C00

Sustainability Green

PMS 7742c C82 M32 Y91 K21
R48 G112 B58 # 30703A

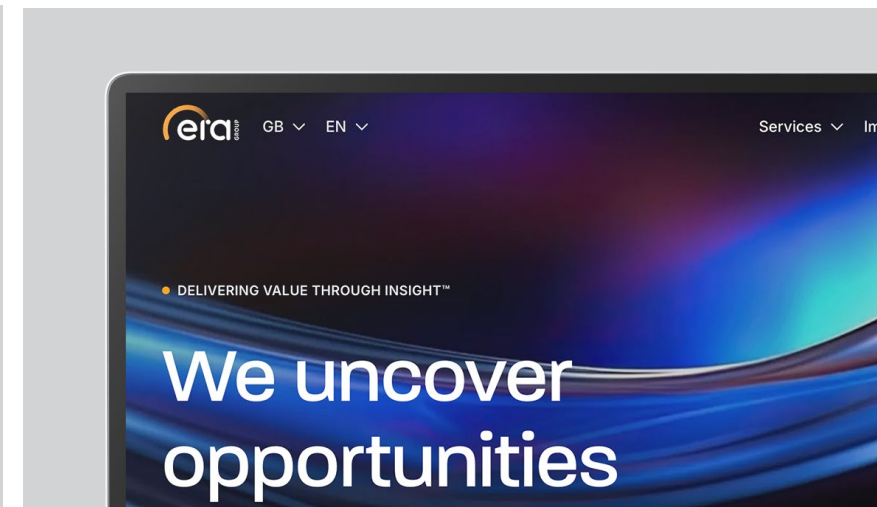

Logo application

Usage

Designed for use across our website, printed material, app and digital applications, please refer to the examples opposite and throughout these guidelines.

Colour

Our logo can be applied to coloured backgrounds, but must always maintain strong contrast to ensure clarity, visibility, and legibility.

Colour palette

We're introducing more textures, gradients, and richer colour to bring two ideas to life visually: human & intelligence. Texture signals the people side - warmth, credibility, and "real-world" delivery. Gradients and layered colour reflect insight - depth, direction, and the way clarity emerges when data and expertise come together. The result should feel more modern, more premium, and more recognisably ERA Group.

White, Black & Cool Grey are accented by Daybreak Blue and Sunrise Yellow, both helping extend the narrative behind our strategy and brand idea.

Sustainability Green is only to be used when creating sustainable materials.

Opacity versions of Daybreak Blue and Sunrise Yellow may be used up to 10% as shown to the right.

Core colour palette

Daybreak Blue

PMS 654c C100 M73 Y0 K33
R0 G58 B112 #003A70

75% 50% 25% 10%

Sunrise Yellow

PMS 137c C0 M47 Y93 K0
R255 G156 B0 #FF9C00

75% 50% 25% 10%

Cool Grey

PMS Cool Grey 7C C20 M14 Y12 K40
R151 G153 B155 #97999B

White

PMS White C0 M0 Y0 K0
R255 G255 B255 #FFFFFF

Black

PMS Black C0 M0 Y0 K100
R0 G0 B0 #000000

Secondary colour palette

Midnight Blue

R17 G18 B39 C100 M94 Y49 K70
PMS 276c #111127

Royal Blue

R3 G4 B200 C98 M82 Y0 K0
PMS Blue 072 C #0304C8

Sea Green

PMS 333c C62 M0 Y36 K0
R60 G219 B192 #3CDBC0

Sustainability colour palette

Sunrise Yellow

PMS 137c C0 M47 Y93 K0
R255 G156 B0 #FF9C00

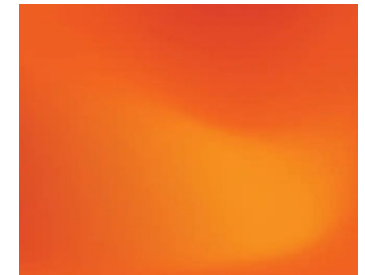

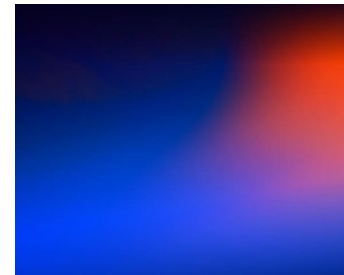

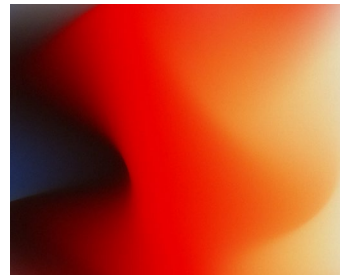

Sustainability Green

PMS 7742c C82 M32 Y91 K21
R48 G112 B58 #30703A

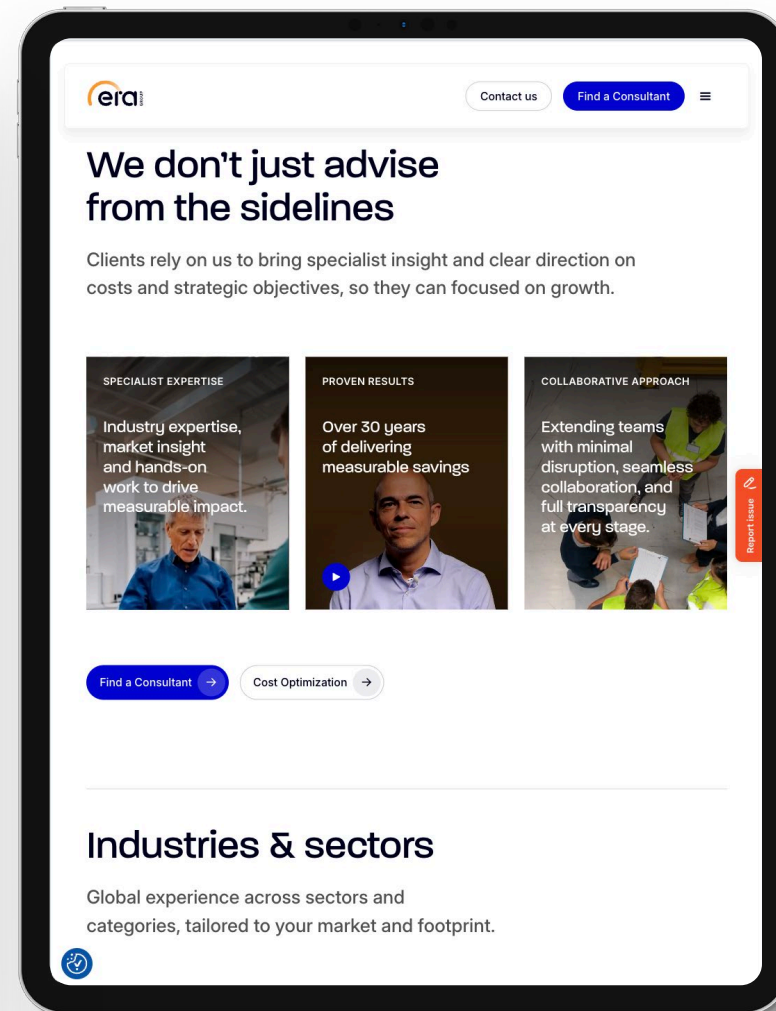

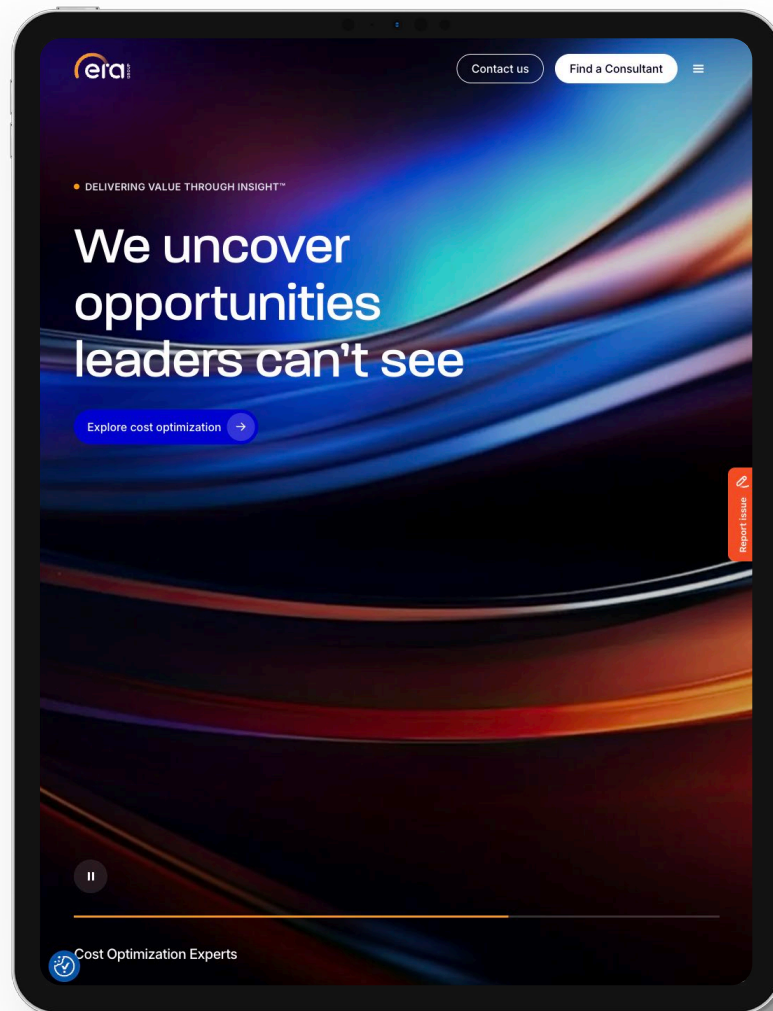

Gradients

Gradients are used to express depth, direction, and clarity within our visual identity.

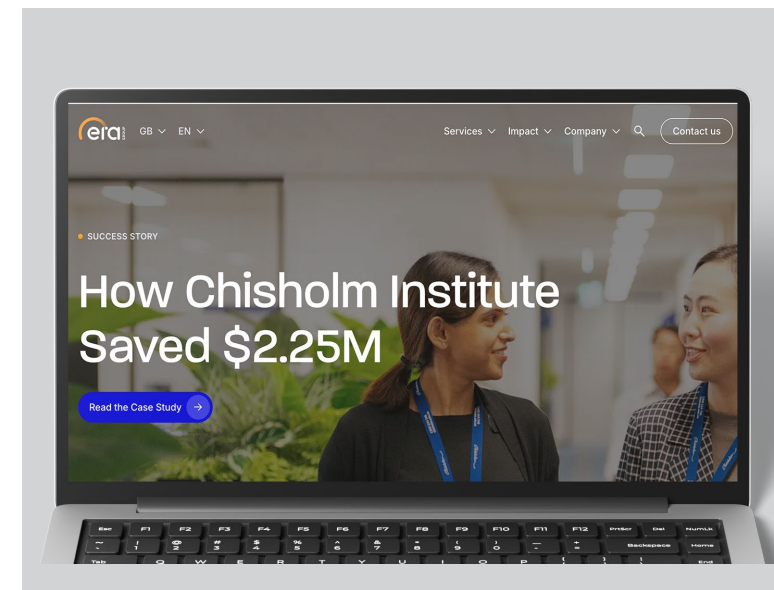

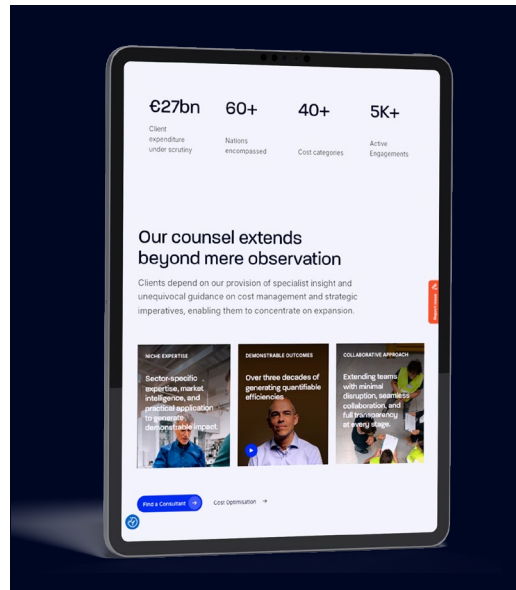

They should be applied to add subtle richness and a sense of progression. Gradients must remain clean and refined, using clean colour combinations, and should never overpower core content. Use sparingly to enhance layouts, create focus, and introduce a more modern, premium feel across brand communications.

Concepts

Concepts 2

Brand typefaces

We have a simple typographic system that is functional and attention-grabbing. Our primary brand typefaces are Paralucent, Trebuchet, and Arial Nova.

We use medium-weight Paralucent for headlines and regular Trebuchet for body copy whenever possible.

Paralucent is available to license from Adobe Fonts: fonts.adobe.com/fonts/paralucent.

Our secondary typeface is Trebuchet, and it is used primarily for body copy. However, Trebuchet can be used for headlines when Paralucent is not available.

If Trebuchet is used as the headline font, Arial Nova should accompany it as the body copy font. Additionally, in instances where the font is smaller than 10 pts, Arial Nova should be used as the body copy to ensure it is clear and easy to read. However, this Arial Nova should only be used when the above conditions are met.

Primary

Aa

Paralucent medium
Paralucent light

Secondary

Aa

Ms Trebuchet Bold
Ms Trebuchet regular

Tertiary

Aa

Arial Nova

Headline style

We have two main headline styles that are interchangeable, allowing for varied typographic expression and simple elegance.

1. Simple headline

A simple headline style should be used for titles and small sentence lengths, like the examples opposite. This should be determined depending on the content, format and amount of copy.

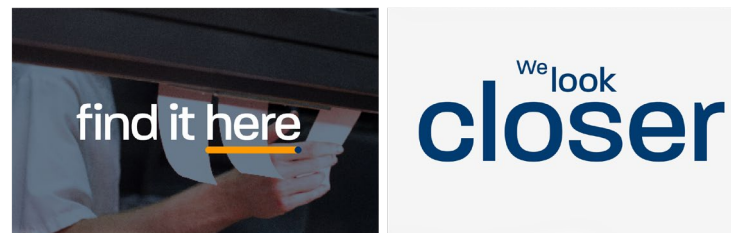

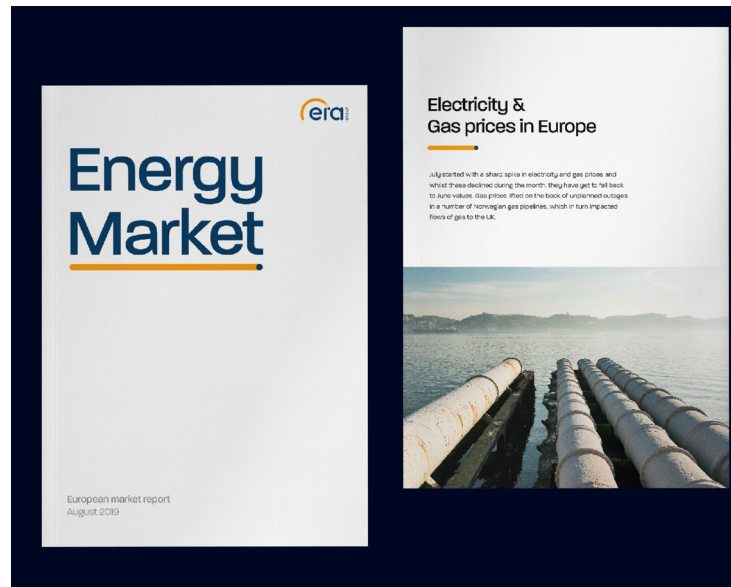

2. Dynamic headline

Play with positioning, best used for very short, bold messaging. These headlines are impactful when both static or in our motion design.

3. Subheading

All subheadings should be in Cool Grey, Daybreak Blue, or white and Paralucant medium. This allows it to stand out and can be differentiated from the usual headlines clearly.

Headline examples

Simple headline

Dynamic headline

Simple headline

Another example of a simple headline

More dynamic headlines

Subheading style

Subheading example

Typographic application

Space is good.

One clear message makes more impact than many.

Scale

Use headlines and titles at larger sizes - this expressed confidence and is a distinctive stylistic element.

Hierarchy

Deliver information clearly with use of the two weights.

Headline: Medium
Body copy: Light

Headlines: Bold

Body copy: Light

Value through insight lockup

Headline rule

When a writing a headline the rule with a dot at the end can be used to add a stylistic element.

If it is a large short heading then this can span across the whole headline. The stroke of the rule should be 6pt when the font size is 50pt and the descenders should sit half way across it. This will be the distance from the headline even if no descenders are present. As the font size drops to 40 the stroke of the rule will decrease to 5 and so on.

If a heading is being used with many words but at a smaller size, then the rule is to span the line across 4-6 characters (and/or up to two words) while dropping down to a 4pt stroke. This should sit three 'dots' away from the headline as shown.

Examples of the colours that can be used are shown.

Headlines must all be sentence case and avoid using punctuation.

The rule is not to be used alongside dynamic headlines.

Simple headline with rule:
Font Size - 50
Stroke Size - 6

Headline rule

Where descenders should sit on the rule
Font Size - 40
Stroke Size - 5

abcdefghijklmnopqrstuvwxyz

Distance from the baseline
Font Size - 20
Stroke Size - 4

Another example of a simple headline

3 Dots

Colour example

Colour example

Colour example

Photography style

Photography should reflect and reinforce our brand, expressing our human approach and global perspective. Imagery must convey a tone that is approachable, authoritative, and purposeful, while maintaining professionalism and relevance.

Our visual style is modern, clean, and considered, with a focus on simplicity and clarity, balanced with warmth to feel welcoming and engaging. Wherever possible, capture real moments of interaction, showing dynamic, positive individuals and genuine connections. Imagery should emphasise human-to-human relationships, purposeful communication, and the opportunities created through collaboration.

Opportunity/ Light/ Optimistic

Positive/ Warm/ Feeling

Perspective/ Direction/ Holistic View

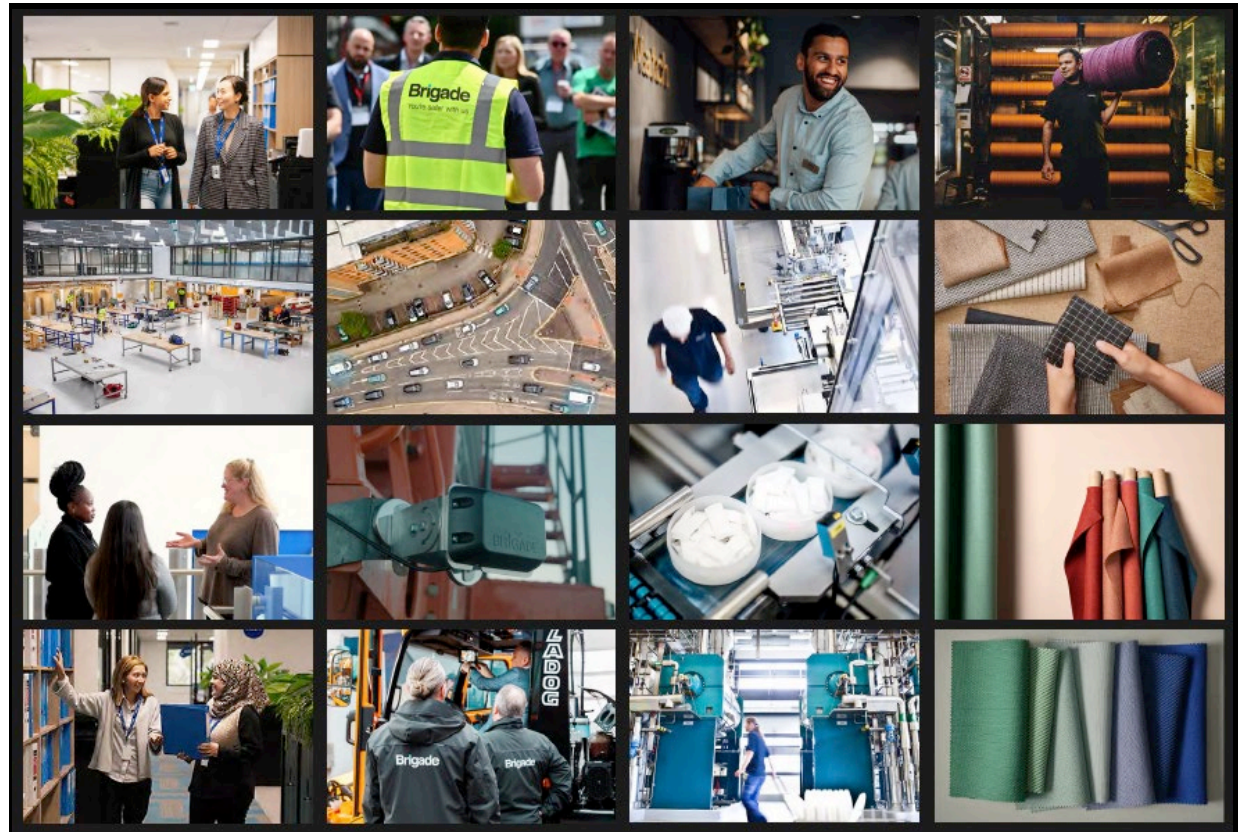

Photography style - Case Studies

The purpose with case study imagery is to visually bring successful client engagements and projects to life, adding credibility and tangible context to our service offerings.

Our case study images should heroise our clients, and show the positive benefits we have made with our clients. The images should visually represent their respective projects and clients sectors. These could feature on-site photography, their staff or assets or detailed images representing the client's sector.

Case study images should highlight benefits, human led connections and opportunities, be dynamic, engaging and positive.

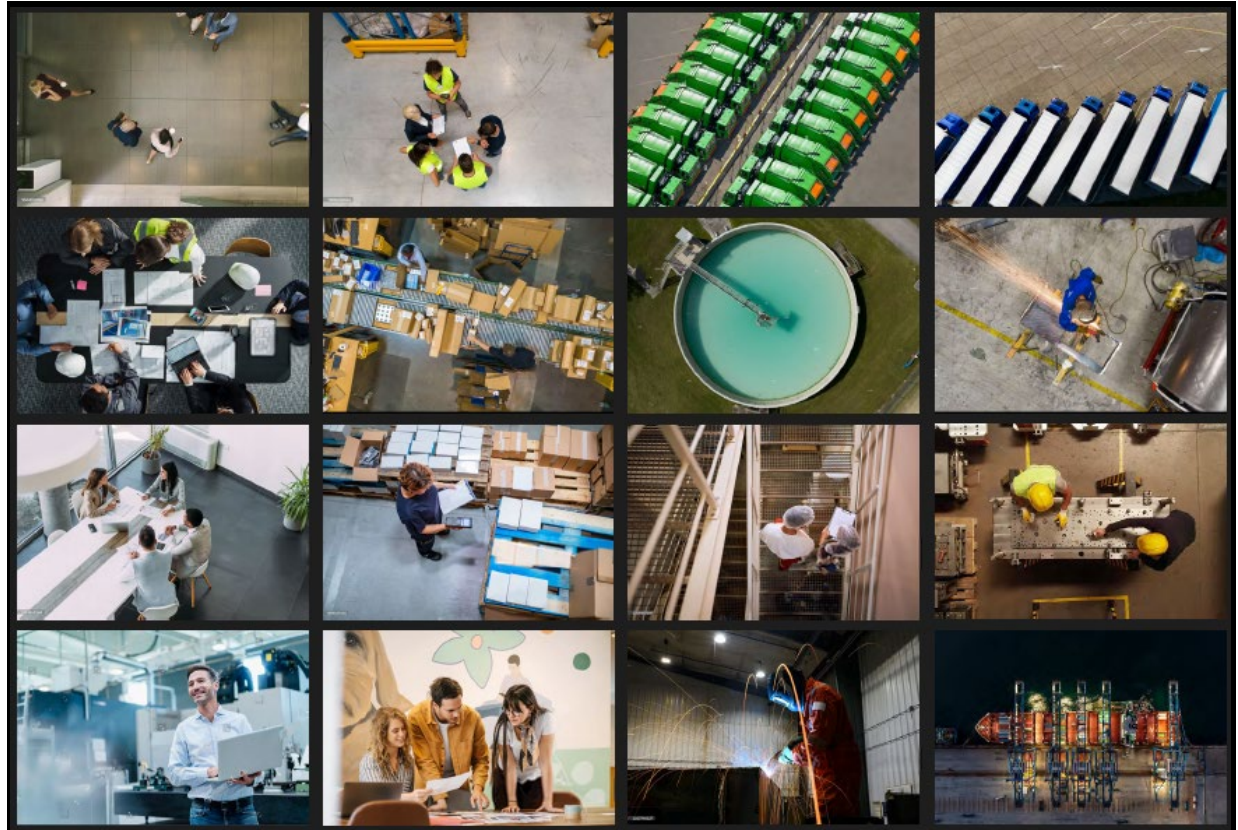

Photography style - Insights

Our insights and thought leadership images act as compelling lead visuals for category pages, index pages, and individual articles within the Insights section. These reflect our knowledge/ experience credentials, so feature thoughtful, evocative human-led photography or custom graphics visually representing abstract concepts, industry trends and data.

Evocative photography should highlight benefits, human led connections and opportunities, be dynamic, engaging and positive, featuring individuals from all over the world.

Aerial views represent a more direct view of the businesses and our clients, and the holistic view we take, highlighting our experience allows us to see the bigger picture.

Photography style - Abstract

Where photography is not appropriate, or where subjects are intangible, abstract imagery may be used.

These visuals should be led by the brand colour palette, primarily blues and orange, with gradients introducing light and texture. Drawing on brand assets such as the sun shape and its path, abstract imagery should feel modern, balanced, and refined, and be used to represent themes such as artificial intelligence or other non-human concepts.

value through insight™