

What this is, why we prepared it, and what it does not claim.

One page of orientation before any numbers. We built this from your public filings before contacting you, because a useful conversation should begin with evidence rather than a capability presentation.

WHAT AN OUTSIDE-IN REVIEW POINTS TO

$4.4M – $12.5M

a year in recoverable indirect cost, against the $43.7M your filing names by category. Directional, from public information only — and validated, or ruled out, in a no-cost baseline. Across 2,660 completed ERA engagements, 2,649 recovered value.

How it was built

Your public filing. Nineteen expense lines from your FY2024 Form 990; seven map to categories we work.

A peer comparison. Each category against every nonprofit filer that breaks it out separately, as a share of revenue.

Our own completed work. What ERA has actually recovered in each of those categories, not a projection.

Reading the position

Above the median is a question, not a verdict. Categories sit high for sound reasons, and your model is one of them.

At or below the median is not proof of competitive buying. The median is drawn from organizations that have mostly never tested these categories either.

What follows

- 1 What we found, and what follows
Five observations, none of them a conclusion
- 2 What your own numbers say
Every indirect line your filing breaks out
- 3 The position, as we read it
Each category against comparable filers
- 4 Where we looked
The second filing, and what it discloses
- 5 Operating supply
The one priority the public record can evidence
- 6 What this rests on
Nine evidence layers, four of them empty
- 7 What happens next
A conversation, a no-cost baseline, your decision
